

ALBUQUERQUE EVENING CITIZEN.

VOLUME 19

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 7, 1905.

NUMBER 283

BIRTHRIGHT OF AMERICANS WAS ENJOYED BY MANY VOTERS TODAY

Greatest Excitement Found in City Elections in New York and Pennsylvania Although Something Was Also

GOING IN CINCINNATI ALONG THAT SAME LINE

Weather Generally Prevailed Which Conduced to Large Polling of Votes in Rural Districts Wherever Elections Held.

HEARST LOST MANY WORKERS STOLEN BY TAMMANY

New York, Nov. 7.—A wave of revolt against boss rule seems to have swept through the country, and it is safe to say that today's election will give conclusive evidence that the citizens, irrespective of party affiliations, are thoroughly disgusted with bossism and the political corruption which invariably goes hand in hand with boss rule, and are determined to put an end to grafting and other forms of corruption in municipal and state matters. The fight in New York is a three-cornered one, with an important side issue in connection with the candidacy of Jerome for the city of New York. Both the republicans and independents, who are supporting Hearst, the sponsor of municipal ownership, are making a determined fight against McClellan, the Tammany candidate for mayor. But the fight is not alone against Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany, but also against B. B. Odell, Jr., the head of the republican machine, and Louis F. Haffen, the political dictator of the Bronx. It is a fight against boss rule in general and Tammany in particular.

Jerome Makes Discovery.
Election day dawned clear this morning, with indications of a full vote. The exposure by Jerome last night of the alleged plot by which 600,000 circulars were to have been distributed among voters, extending from the city to the country, was a split ticket but with directions which if followed, would invalidate the ticket, served to increase the fear of jobbery at the polls and in the count. The republican county committee takes a different view of the matter, and says such markings would be counted.

Hearst is Looking High.
A development of interest this morning was the publication of a significant statement by Arthur Brisbane, one of Hearst's editorial writers, who declared that his employer was fighting for greater things than the majority of New York.
Brisbane said: "Hearst is built for greater things than the majority of this city, and he is going to get them. This country is hard up for rich, intelligent and powerful men."
At the Hearst headquarters it was stated today that many Hearst watchers and captains have been bought off by Tammany and have deserted Hearst. Volunteers have been sent out wherever the headquarters has learned of deserters.

Joseph Thomas, one of the Hearst leaders, was beaten and perhaps fatally injured today by twelve men who assaulted him when he attempted to cause the arrest of a voter just outside the election booth in Monroe street. Thomas is the head of the municipal ownership league committee, for investigating election frauds. He had asked a deputy to arrest a voter, when he was knocked down and kicked about the body. Thomas says the men who assaulted him were supporters of Tammany hall.

There had been 222 arrests for illegal voting up to 2:30 o'clock. In the afternoon each of the three candidates for mayor expressed confidence of election.

NEGRO FRANCHISE IS THE MARYLAND STATE ISSUE.
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 7.—The fight at the present election in this state is of a slightly different character than that which is waged in New York and Philadelphia. The main issue in this state is whether the state constitution shall be so amended as to prevent the negro franchise. Senator Gorman, who has been in undisputed control of the democratic machine for many years, is strongly identified with the element advocating the anti-negro amendment, and is making the fight of his life. The better elements, headed by his opponents, are making common cause with the republicans, not because they are opposed to the disfranchisement of the negroes, but because they wish to down the corrupt democratic machine.

NEW JERSEY DIVIDED ON CORPORATE QUESTIONS.
Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 7.—Two remarkable contests will be decided at today's election, growing out of the alliance of two republican "bosses" with the corporation and traction interests. In Essex county, which controls the city of Newark, Colby, a young assemblyman, is running for senator, having overthrown the regular organization headed by the famous boss of the county, Carl Lentz, and the issue is the granting of limited franchises to street railway corporations. In Hudson county, which includes Jersey City, the fight is between Mayor Hugh Fagan, republican, and Col. Sam Dickinson, the boss of the county. Mayor Fagan is up for re-election, and because he opposed granting a franchise to the Public Service corporation, which he deemed to be against good policy, the boss turned against him and did everything to defeat him at the present election.

OHIO MAY JOIN THE RANKS OF REFORMERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 7.—The election of today will to a great extent influence the future of bossism in this state. The campaign was very bitter, and was principally directed against the corrupt boss rule of Gov. B. Cox, for many years at the head of the republican machine of this state. The campaign was quite sensational in many ways, owing to the fact that Senator Foraker went out of his way to attack the railroad rate program of President Roosevelt, while Secretary Taft openly defended President Roosevelt's position, and made a rather bitter attack upon "Boss" Cox. It is believed that while the republican ticket may be elected, it will be so with greatly reduced majorities.

Weather in Cincinnati.
The weather is cloudy in many places in Ohio today, but a heavy vote is expected. In Toledo, Herrick, the republican nominee for governor, is running behind the ticket.

BOSTON TAKES LITTLE INTEREST IN MAYORALTY.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—This city has never been in control of a boss, although there have been "rings" of politicians who have parceled out patronage to their liking. There has never been "graft" on the scale that is found in New York, Philadelphia, and many other cities. The issue in the present fight was a petty quarrel between John F. Fitzgerald, a former representative, who for many years has had the ambition to run for mayor, and Martin Lomasney, the boss of ward 8, who wanted Daniel Whelan for mayor, because it suited his purpose best. As the situation stands at the present time, the majority will undoubtedly go to a democrat, who will be the very personification of machine politics, with a following that will overrun the city hall and which must be taken care of. Except among partisan politicians there is very little interest in today's election, and it is expected that the vote will be rather small.

FIRST RETURNS OF TOWNS.
The first town reporting the result of the election was Norwell. The vote for governor was Bartlett, democrat, 54; Guild, republican, 87. For lieutenant governor, Draper, republican, 83; Whitney, democrat, 68.
These figures indicate a falling off of about 20 per cent in the republican vote and about 35 per cent in the democratic vote from last year's figures.
The second Massachusetts town to report was Avon, where the democratic plurality of 124 of last year, is changed to a democratic plurality of 4; a republican gain of 120.
Returns from the first five towns out of the 254 towns and cities of the state, give Bartlett, democrat, 420; Guild, republican, 622; for lieutenant governor, Draper, republican, 615; Whitney, democrat, 419; a net republican gain of 180 over last year.

STORM CENTER HOVERS OVER PENNSYLVANIA.
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7.—The fight again between DuRum-McNichol machine in this city, which began with the independent action of Mayor Weaver last spring, when he prevented some of the most outrageous grafting schemes of the "gang," has extended all over the state. Whoever local politics have been boss-ridden in the state of Pennsylvania, a violent reaction has taken place and today's election may terminate in a tremendous upheaval of the reform element and the downfall of the corrupt machine politicians and their parasitic political supporters.
The leaders of the gang have been described by every decent republican and all the bitter elements of both parties have rallied around the banner of the new party, which is pledged to make war against the grafters and corrupt bosses.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7.—Bright, crisp weather marked election day in this city, and the first hour indicated that the vote will be fully as heavy as that polled at any presidential election. Mayor Weaver distributed his extra force of nearly 1,000 special policemen sworn in yesterday, in wards where disorder was anticipated and in one ward, the fifth, twenty-seven alleged repeaters were arrested during the first hour.

Treasurer's Office a Vital One.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 7.—Today's election will, in a measure, decide the fate of the "gang" in this city, as well as the fate of Pennsylvania. The feeling against boss rule and political corruption is very strong in this state and a determined fight is made today against the "gang." The republican machine seems to realize its position, and is making desperate efforts to save what it can. The republican machine dare not lose the state treasury and is concentrating every effort to insure the election of its candidate, J. Lee Plummer, W. H. Berry, the democratic candidate, is a man of high repute and integrity, but is handicapped by a suspicion that he was leaning toward prohibition.

FATAL FIST FIGHTING AT NAVAL ACADEMY.
Annapolis, Nov. 7.—Midshipman James R. Brach, Jr., son of James R. Brach, secretary of the American Bankers' association, with offices in the Hanover bank building of New York City, who was seriously injured in a fist fight with another midshipman, died today.

ON THE RIGHT ROAD NOW

ANDREWS THE MURDERER FINALLY KILLS HIMSELF AND PARAMOUR

Dying Statement Found in Stocking of Woman Denies the Murder With Which He Had Been Charged.

HOW POLICE LOST BIG REWARD SO LONG OFFERED

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 7.—Milton Franklin Andrews and his woman, Nilda Reine, who had died, after brutally attacking and robbing William Ellis, a horseman at Berkeley, whom they had lured from Australia, were found dead in their rooms on McAlister street last night. The police had surrounded the place and Andrews was hidden in a closet when the police entered the room. Realizing that they had been discovered, the young woman persuaded the policemen to leave the room a moment. She closed the door, and immediately after, two shots rang out. Both were breathing their last when the police broke in the door, the woman lying on a bed and Andrews on the floor, with the smoking pistol still clutched in his hand. Andrews was charged with slaying a woman at Troy, N. Y., with the murder of Eugene Bosworth of New Britain, Conn., and with the killing of Bessie Bouton, near Colorado Springs. A statement signed by Andrews was subsequently found in a stocking of the dead woman, in which he says he is not guilty of the charges of murder, and that on November 3 he had offered to give himself up to the police and stand trial on the murder charges if the police would agree to quash the minor charges against him.

He acknowledges that he traveled with Bessie Bouton, and says that he deserted her at Colorado Springs because she was not faithful to him. He claims he was 1,000 miles away when the woman was killed. He also denies specifically the other murder charges. In regard to the assault on Ellis, the note says it was a gamblers' quarrel.

LONG ISLAND IS THE SCENE OF MOST MEMORABLE HORSE RACES

Great Neck, L. I., Nov. 7.—Nirvana, the beautiful estate of W. Gould Brokaw, is today the scene of an interesting sporting event, which is attracting the attention of all horsemen of Long Island and Manhattan society. This is the day for the annual steeplechase and pony races under the auspices of the National Steeplechase and Hunt association. The third will be for polo ponies, 14-3 and under, at three-eighths of a mile. The fourth will be an open steeplechase race at two and one-half miles, in which professionals will be permitted to ride. The fifth will be a one-half mile race for geldings, and the sixth a hurdle race at one and one-half miles. For all winners there will be cups valued at $100 and for second horses plate, valued at $50.

NAVY DEPARTMENT TOBACCO BIDS WOMEN'S CLUB IN OKLAHOMA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—The time for submitting bids for supplying the Navy Department with 150,000 pounds of tobacco, to the paymaster general of the Navy Department, expired at noon today, and the bids will be opened this afternoon. The time of delivery will not begin until next year, but it was considered advisable to have the bids sent in early enough, to give the successful bidder or bidders ample time to make the necessary selections in the market. The next lot of tobacco to be furnished to the government for the use of the navy will have to go through much the same test as that which has previously been bought and will be given a thorough inspection by sampling and otherwise at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

LAWTON FOUND WOMEN'S CLUBS ONE TOO MUCH.
Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 7.—Delegates from the various Women's Clubs in Oklahoma and Indian Territory are assembled here to attend the annual meeting of the Territorial Federation of Women's Clubs, which opened here today. The meeting was originally to be held tomorrow at Lawton, but after all arrangements had been made it was discovered that on the same day the southern Methodist episcopal conference would be held at Lawton, and it would have been a too severe tax upon the accommodations of Lawton to harbor two conventions on the same day. Oklahoma City offered to take one of the conventions, that of the Federation of Women's Clubs, off the city's hands. The offer was accepted, with the understanding that next year the federation would meet in Lawton.

IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL SERVICES AT SANTA BARBARA CEMETERY.
A very devout and pathetic memorial service was held at 9 o'clock this morning in the chapel at Santa Barbara cemetery. Father Capilupi, S. J., sang the high mass. Mrs. Shink's choir rendered the music and Father Mandalari, S. J., preached the sermon. A large congregation assembled to hear the service.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO BICYCLE LOVERS.
New York, Nov. 7.—Today is the annual field day of the New York State Division of the Century Road Club of America, the principal event of the season in which cyclists are interested. Unusual efforts have been made this year to make the field day interesting and attractive for cyclists as well as for the public in general, and a fine program has been arranged.

LAMENTABLE FATALITIES

Young Lady's Body Found in College Lake at Vassar.

SUICIDE'S WIFE IS BETTER NOW, HE SAYS, I'M THROUGH

Son of Banker Branch Dies From a Fist Fight at Annapolis.

BOUT WAS BETWEEN MIDSHIPMEN

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The body of Miss Emily Rensign, of Youngstown, Ohio, a member of the freshman class at Vassar college, was found in the college lake early this morning. She had taken a headache powder yesterday, and is supposed to have wandered into the lake while dazed from the effect.

MRS. QUIGGLE KNOWS NO CAUSE FOR HUSBAND'S ACT.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Mrs. Washington J. Quiggle, wife of the secretary of Thomas Walsh, who was shot by her husband last night, is somewhat improved today and may recover, Quiggle, after shooting his wife, killed himself. His wife insists that she knows no reason for the shooting. Quiggle formerly lived in Ouray, Colo., where his mother, Mrs. Albert Long, died two years ago.

EX-SHERIFF RUSSELL OF SOCORRO HERE ON A VISIT TO HIS SISTER, MRS. L. C. POSEY, AND NIECE, MRS. QUINLAN.

Charles Russell, sheriff of Socorro county about fifteen years ago, and one of the best officers in the territory in those early times, dropped in on the city last Sunday morning, and was a pleasant caller at The Citizen office this afternoon. In company with his niece, Mrs. Quinlan. Since leaving the Gem City, Mr. Russell has tried the northwest country, even Alaska, and has prospered. He first located in Washington, where he was engaged in the real estate business, and when the boom in that business became quiet, he went up into British Columbia and for several years was a successful miner of that dominion. For the past eight years he has been engaged in quartz mining, about 120 miles north of Nome, Alaska, and brings with him to this city some fine samples of Alaskan ores. He is suffering with a touch of rheumatism, and will rest in this climate a few months. He is quartered at the home of his sister, Mrs. L. C. Posey, No. 611 North Eighth street.

SHORT SERVICES AT THE CASTLE

Over the Remains of Franz Huning, the Eulogy Being by R. W. D. Bryan.

BODY TAKEN TO DENVER

The remains of Franz Huning, the pioneer whose death was chronicled in The Evening Citizen of yesterday afternoon, were shipped to the crematory at Denver on the delayed passenger train No. 2 this morning, where in accordance with the provisions of his will, they will be cremated, placed in an urn, and brought back to this city. Hon. H. B. Ferguson, son-in-law of the deceased, and Otto Diekmann, an old-time employee and friend, accompanied the body.

This morning at 7:30 o'clock, short services were held at the Montezuma castle of the deceased, where only the immediate family and relatives, with the pall-bearers, the undertaker and a few old time male friends, attended. This action—a simple, quiet funeral service, was also at the request of the deceased and so specified in his will, and when the small crowd had assembled in the parlor, standing around a handsome casket, the top of which was covered with floral tributes, R. W. D. Bryan stepped forward and pronounced with the most eloquent eulogy upon the dead. Mr. Bryan said in part:

In his will the deceased requested that some old friend speak at his funeral. The family have asked me to comply with this wish. I am honored by the selection and willingly lay upon the bier of my deceased friend, this tribute of my respect and esteem. It has been my privilege to know him for the past twenty-three years and from my very first acquaintance with him, he has always manifested a quick and appreciative sympathy and a genuine fellowship. Under at times, a brusque manner, I always found a kindly disposition, a hearty appreciation and a generous helpfulness. I regret that the demand of a busy life interfered with the frequency of these communications with him, which always cheered and helped me. Doubtless we all feel that the constant effort for gain interferes with that social intercourse between congenial friends, which brightens and beautifies our lives. I rejoice in the thought of that eternity which will afford time to cultivate and enjoy the friends whose mental traits and moral virtues appeal to us and awake a full responsive cord of affection.

Mr. Bryan then spoke of the sterling qualities of the deceased as a business man and as a citizen and the rich legacy left to family and friends in his reputation for honest and fair dealing, and for the unimpeachable integrity of his word.

As we stand here in the presence of this lifeless body, the spirit gone to Him who brought it into being, we cannot suppress the thought of an immortal life.

Mr. Ingersoll, in one of the most beautiful gems in the English language, thus gave voice to the thought standing beside his brother's grave: "Life is a narrow vale between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of the unrepenting dead there comes no word; but in the night of death, hope sees a star and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing."

Amid the engrossing cares of life and the troubles and the anxieties, we pause a moment at the coffin which contains the lifeless corpse of our friend and gaze into that mysterious unknown where his spirit lies, to ask ourselves, if when God sends his messenger for us, will we be ready to greet the summons with joyous confidence?

The tender thoughts of our hearts, as thus we gather to pay our last tribute to a friend, are many.

FATHER DUMAREST GOING TO PARIS

CATHOLIC PRIEST, WHO IS WINNING FAME AS A SCULPTOR, WILL VISIT OLD HOME IN FRANCE.

Father Dumarest and Father Julliard of Gallup, arrived in the city from the west last night and spent the day here. Father Dumarest is on his way to visit his old home in Lyons, France, and he will also visit Paris while there. He expects to be absent several months.

Father Dumarest is gaining fame as a sculptor, and only recently completed a beautiful statue for the cathedral at Las Vegas. He is now at work on a handsome life-sized medallion of a Navajo Indian, which is expected to compare favorably with the work of any of the famous sculptors who have taken Indians for their models.

He will leave tonight for Las Vegas, from where he will go to New York and take passage for Europe.

PRESIDENT HAS MADE SPEECHES

Young Lady's Body Found in Every State and Territory in the Whole Union.

SUICIDE'S WIFE IS BETTER NOW, HE SAYS, I'M THROUGH

Son of Banker Branch Dies From a Fist Fight at Annapolis.

BOUT WAS BETWEEN MIDSHIPMEN

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The body of Miss Emily Rensign, of Youngstown, Ohio, a member of the freshman class at Vassar college, was found in the college lake early this morning. She had taken a headache powder yesterday, and is supposed to have wandered into the lake while dazed from the effect.

MRS. QUIGGLE KNOWS NO CAUSE FOR HUSBAND'S ACT.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Mrs. Washington J. Quiggle, wife of the secretary of Thomas Walsh, who was shot by her husband last night, is somewhat improved today and may recover, Quiggle, after shooting his wife, killed himself. His wife insists that she knows no reason for the shooting. Quiggle formerly lived in Ouray, Colo., where his mother, Mrs. Albert Long, died two years ago.

EX-SHERIFF RUSSELL OF SOCORRO HERE ON A VISIT TO HIS SISTER, MRS. L. C. POSEY, AND NIECE, MRS. QUINLAN.

Charles Russell, sheriff of Socorro county about fifteen years ago, and one of the best officers in the territory in those early times, dropped in on the city last Sunday morning, and was a pleasant caller at The Citizen office this afternoon. In company with his niece, Mrs. Quinlan. Since leaving the Gem City, Mr. Russell has tried the northwest country, even Alaska, and has prospered. He first located in Washington, where he was engaged in the real estate business, and when the boom in that business became quiet, he went up into British Columbia and for several years was a successful miner of that dominion. For the past eight years he has been engaged in quartz mining, about 120 miles north of Nome, Alaska, and brings with him to this city some fine samples of Alaskan ores. He is suffering with a touch of rheumatism, and will rest in this climate a few months. He is quartered at the home of his sister, Mrs. L. C. Posey, No. 611 North Eighth street.

SHORT SERVICES AT THE CASTLE

Over the Remains of Franz Huning, the Eulogy Being by R. W. D. Bryan.

BODY TAKEN TO DENVER

The remains of Franz Huning, the pioneer whose death was chronicled in The Evening Citizen of yesterday afternoon, were shipped to the crematory at Denver on the delayed passenger train No. 2 this morning, where in accordance with the provisions of his will, they will be cremated, placed in an urn, and brought back to this city. Hon. H. B. Ferguson, son-in-law of the deceased, and Otto Diekmann, an old-time employee and friend, accompanied the body.

This morning at 7:30 o'clock, short services were held at the Montezuma castle of the deceased, where only the immediate family and relatives, with the pall-bearers, the undertaker and a few old time male friends, attended. This action—a simple, quiet funeral service, was also at the request of the deceased and so specified in his will, and when the small crowd had assembled in the parlor, standing around a handsome casket, the top of which was covered with floral tributes, R. W. D. Bryan stepped forward and pronounced with the most eloquent eulogy upon the dead. Mr. Bryan said in part:

In his will the deceased requested that some old friend speak at his funeral. The family have asked me to comply with this wish. I am honored by the selection and willingly lay upon the bier of my deceased friend, this tribute of my respect and esteem. It has been my privilege to know him for the past twenty-three years and from my very first acquaintance with him, he has always manifested a quick and appreciative sympathy and a genuine fellowship. Under at times, a brusque manner, I always found a kindly disposition, a hearty appreciation and a generous helpfulness. I regret that the demand of a busy life interfered with the frequency of these communications with him, which always cheered and helped me. Doubtless we all feel that the constant effort for gain interferes with that social intercourse between congenial friends, which brightens and beautifies our lives. I rejoice in the thought of that eternity which will afford time to cultivate and enjoy the friends whose mental traits and moral virtues appeal to us and awake a full responsive cord of affection.

Mr. Bryan then spoke of the sterling qualities of the deceased as a business man and as a citizen and the rich legacy left to family and friends in his reputation for honest and fair dealing, and for the unimpeachable integrity of his word.

As we stand here in the presence of this lifeless body, the spirit gone to Him who brought it into being, we cannot suppress the thought of an immortal life.

Mr. Ingersoll, in one of the most beautiful gems in the English language, thus gave voice to the thought standing beside his brother's grave: "Life is a narrow vale between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of the unrepenting dead there comes no word; but in the night of death, hope sees a star and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing."

Amid the engrossing cares of life and the troubles and the anxieties, we pause a moment at the coffin which contains the lifeless corpse of our friend and gaze into that mysterious unknown where his spirit lies, to ask ourselves, if when God sends his messenger for us, will we be ready to greet the summons with joyous confidence?

The tender thoughts of our hearts, as thus we gather to pay our last tribute to a friend, are many.

FATHER DUMAREST GOING TO PARIS

CATHOLIC PRIEST, WHO IS WINNING FAME AS A SCULPTOR, WILL VISIT OLD HOME IN FRANCE.

Father Dumarest and Father Julliard of Gallup, arrived in the city from the west last night and spent the day here. Father Dumarest is on his way to visit his old home in Lyons, France, and he will also visit Paris while there. He expects to be absent several months.

Father Dumarest is gaining fame as a sculptor, and only recently completed a beautiful statue for the cathedral at Las Vegas. He is now at work on a handsome life-sized medallion of a Navajo Indian, which is expected to compare favorably with the work of any of the famous sculptors who have taken Indians for their models.

He will leave tonight for Las Vegas, from where he will go to New York and take passage for Europe.

NOTICE FOR ANNUAL MASS MEETING

OF CITIZENS TO ELECT OFFICERS FOR THE NEXT ANNUAL FAIR.

The regular mass meeting of the citizens of Albuquerque is called for Monday evening, November 13, in the room over Zeigler's cafe for the purpose of choosing officers to serve during the twenty-sixth territorial fair. It is inasmuch as quite a number of parties holding just bills against the late fair are demanding their money, also the fact that the present officers were compelled to pay over $2,000 of this year's money for account of the 1904 deficit, the undersigned believes it is the duty of the citizens to aid the present officers in securing at least that amount at once, in order that it may be applied to any of the famous sculptors who have taken Indians for their models. He will leave tonight for Las Vegas, from where he will go to New York and take passage for Europe.